National Consortium of Breast Centers to Host 34th Interdisciplinary Conference in Las Vegas

Las Vegas, NV – The National Consortium of Breast Centers (NCBC) is set to welcome breast health professionals from across the country for its 34th Annual Interdisciplinary Breast Center Conference, taking place March 21-23, 2025, at Caesars Palace in Las Vegas. As one of the most anticipated events in breast care, the conference will bring together surgeons, oncologists, radiologists, nurses, patient navigators, and other healthcare professionals to discuss the latest advancements in breast cancer diagnosis, treatment, and care.

A Hub for Breast Health Innovation

The annual NCBC conference has long been recognized as a key platform for knowledge-sharing and innovation in the field of breast care. This year's event will feature cutting-edge research presentations, panel discussions, and hands-on training sessions designed to enhance patient outcomes and improve interdisciplinary collaboration.

“The primary goal of the NCBC 34th Interdisciplinary Breast Center Conference is to enhance the quality of breast care globally by providing interdisciplinary education to healthcare professionals,” said Kimberly Samuels, CEO of the National Consortium of Breast Centers. “With over 250,000 new cases of breast cancer diagnosed annually, making up 30 percent of cancer cases in women, our focus will be on technical topics, the evolution of breast cancer, advancing imaging technologies like MRI and ultrasound, and emphasizing patient-centered care.”

Conference Highlights

Main Conference (March 21-22)

- Educational Sessions: Attendees can earn up to 12 continuing education credits through expert-led discussions on breast imaging, oncology, genetic risk factors, reconstructive surgery, and survivorship care.
- Industry Exhibits: Attendees will have access to an exhibition hall featuring the latest technology and advancements in breast healthcare from leading medical device companies and pharmaceutical firms.

Specialized Workshops & Post-Conference Training (March 23)

- The Essential Oncoplastic Surgery Course (March 21-23): A three-day hands-on course offering 16.75 CME credits, aimed at surgeons looking to refine their breast reconstruction techniques.
- Breast Program Development Workshop: A deep dive into strategies for building and improving breast centers to enhance patient access and outcomes.
- High-Risk and Hereditary Cancer Care Workshop: Guidance on navigating genetic testing and personalized treatment plans.
- Mastering Clinical Breast Exams: Hands-on training focused on improving early detection and diagnosis skills for medical professionals.
- Survivors, Advocates, and Imaging Luncheon: Marsha Smith Hill, the sister of NFL Hall of Famer Emmitt Smith, will share her 13-year breast cancer survivorship testimony.

A Focus on Patient-Centered Care

A major theme of the conference is improving patient experiences throughout the breast cancer journey. Attendees will explore innovative navigation programs, survivorship plans, and integrative approaches that emphasize holistic patient care. With a growing emphasis on health equity and access, the event will also address disparities in breast cancer treatment and the need for greater outreach within underserved communities.

Venue Details

The conference will be held at Caesars Palace, offering attendees access to exclusive room rates through NCBC.
